N. D. COCHRAN'S REPLY TO AN OHIO PAPER ON BELLIGERENT RIGHTS

Were the Colorado Miners Justified In Fighting Back?— Or Should They Tamely Submit To Murder Because the Government That Murdered Women and Children Is Their Government?

BY N. D. COCHRAN

In a recent issue of The Day Book I suggested as a simple remedy for such industrial outrages as were committed in Colorado, that the workers be given belligerent rights, and made this statement:

"When mine owners, for example, are permitted to maintain private armies to protect their property, let the miners have full right to arm themselves."

An Ohio paper answers by saying that the people of Colorado should have the kind of government they choose; and adds: "If the people of Colorado, for instance, want a cowardly, brutal and impotent government, such as they have, they should have it. It is their own government and they can change it to suit themselves. It is their fault if they don't provide for them-
